"It Was A Good Year," Says Curator As Gallery Prepares For Art Week

American Art Week, which begins tomorrow, will as usual be suitably observed on the peninsula. The Carmel Art Association has many plans for the week, and the peninsula will be blanketed with the work of painters and sculptors. In addition to the work on exhibit throughout the peninsula, shows will be hung tonight in both the watercolor and the oil gallery of the Carmel Art Association.

As part of the observance of Art Week, Zenas Potter, treasurer of the Carmel Art Association, will interview Armin Hansen, president of the Association, over KDON at 6:45 Tuesday evening. The curator of the Art Association Gallery, Mrs. John Montague, will be interviewed by Mr. Potter on Thursday evening at the same time and station. When the new oil show opens to the public on Saturday, changes will be noted in the gallery. Large movable walls have been constructed by means of which pictures may be hung to greater advantage. These partition walls also increase materially the available wall space in the large gallery.

With the partitions to divide the large gallery into smaller show rooms it will be possible for the gallery to have more frequent one-man shows during the year. The large gallery will be made more useful and individual pictures will show to greater advantage.

Mrs. John Montague, curator of the Art Association Gallery, reports that the past year has been a good one for the Association. Since the celebration of last Art Week on the Peninsula, much progress has been made in carrying out the idea of bringing the Art Association and community into closer integration with each other to the advantage of all. Members of the Community have been brought into the gallery in increasing numbers and the gallery has taken an active part in community affairs. People to the number of 300 a day have visited the gallery, and the past year

P. G. Butterfly Pageant Starts Thursday, Nov. 6

The Pacific Grove Butterfly Pageant will be presented in the Ball Park at Pacific Grove the evenings of November 6, 7 and 8, at 8 o'clock, and there will be a 2 o'clock matinee on November 8 also.

Reginald Foster, president of the Pageant Association, is the author and producer of the three-day festival. With the assistance of Mrs. Theda Shoemaker, vice president, and John Small, secretary-treasurer, he has assembled a cast of 150. The leads are taken by Mrs. Alex D. Olivetti, as Morning Light, and Frank Zimmerman, as Brown Bear. C. B. Bentley will appear as Chief Many Arrows, and Jim Lebeck as Medicine Man. Music will be supplied by the Monterey Masonic Choir, led by Frank Binnie, and by the Pacific Girls Glee Club. Perry Askim, baritone, will be the feature singer, accompanied by Lucy Valpie. Dancing will be in charge of June Delight, Ladisla Narvaez taking the part of the Butterfly Queen.

The proceeds from sale of the tickets will be used for the building of a natural amphitheatre in Pacific Grove for future civic performances.

As the traditional introduction to the season for the Butterfly Pageant, there will be a children's parade tomorrow morning, under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Gehringer. About 1000 students will assemble at the Pacific Grove Elementary School at 10 o'clock, will march down Grand Avenue, along Lighthouse Avenue to the Post Office, and will wind up at the Boy Scout House, where the

Big, Free Party For All Tonight On Dolores Street

Everybody is invited to come to the party on Dolores Street between Ocean and Seventh at 7:00 o'clock. It's to be a big Hallowe'en jamboree for everybody, a real community party for all ages, and everything is free.

There'll be roller skating at the north end of the block for the kids; dancing for the adults at the south end. Free cider and doughnuts for everybody. There'll be prizes for the best costumes for kids and adults, and a prize for the big drawing.

The idea originated two nights ago with Woffard Dufur, Carmel Police Department's top idea man. He tried it out on a group of representative citizens who responded by organizing themselves into a production committee. Presto! A party has been produced.

Everybody is helping. The Boys Club will rope off the two ends of the block at 6:00 o'clock tonight and set up the free cider and doughnut stands over which they will preside.

A loud speaker system to provide the phonograph music for the dancing will be hooked up at Gledhill's. James Belvail and the street department will have strung up electric lights along the street, and everything will be ready.

Everybody, big or little, will be given a ticket when he arrives, and at 8:30 there will be a pause in the dancing and skating for the big drawing. Prizes for the costumes and drawing consist of such substantial and desirable objects as balls and bats, skates, phonograph records, theatre tickets and even a radio!

Who's sponsoring the party? The Police Department, the Fire Department, the Street Department, the Boys Club and numbers of individuals are doating time and labor. The Woman's Club, P.T.A., Business Association, Lions Club, American Legion and Boys Club are buying the refreshments and prizes.

A representative of each of the above organizations has been asked to serve on the judging committee. Dufur's production committee consists of: Paul McKinstry, Mark Raggett, Gene Ricketts, James Belvail, Bill Adams, Cliff Cook, Bernard Donahoe and Eugene Harrah.

Talented Singer Who Plays Lead In Mrs. Moonlight Dreams Of One Day Writing A Great Symphony

For the leading lady in the play about prolonged youth and beauty, Mrs. Moonlight, which will open at the Playhouse November 17, Lee Crowe as director has selected a gifted lyric soprano, Dorothy Warenskjold.

She is in her early twenties, with a slim, erect figure that can communicate its poise to an audience. Her pale green eyes are set in a pearl-like complexion that has a background of wavy hazel-brown hair, and she speaks with a casual forthrightness.

She is a Californian and has been studying under Mabel Riegelman of San Francisco. Her accompanist is her mother, who was a concert pianist before she came to believe more in her daughter's career than in her own. Three years ago, when Dorothy first appeared before a Carmel audience in a recital, she was accompanied by Gastone Usigli, and those who heard her have not forgotton the experience. Since then she has made many other appearances, notably with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, under Pierre Monteux, when she sang the aria from Carmen and Schubert's Ave Maria. Last March she performed in Stanford's annual opera, Der Freischutz, with the support of the Stanford Chorus and a 60-piece orchestra. On two past occasions she sang on the KPO Standard Hour under the direction of Gaetano Merola, and she will be heard again with this group November 9, when she expects to give the Louise Aria.

Miss Warenskjold is grateful for an opportunity to receive dramatic instruction with the Golden Bough Players—"because a singer should not depend solely upon her voice for carrying operatic roles over the footlights," she says. "The reason opera is dying is that singers do not know how to interpret the parts they play. They attain technical skill vocally at the cost of a rounded-out performance.

"Lee Crowe is a real director," she explains, "because he can work with the cast as material for the creation, giving up his own preconceived notions for the sake of drawing out the actor's individual power."

She has been composing music for some of the humorous verses by Margaret Fishback, and they give her a momentary satisfaction. "But I feel deep inside of me that some day I shall compose a symphony," she admits. "Even though I realize how much work there still is to be done before I can undersand the functions of the different instruments in orchestration, still it seems to me that I must some day find proper expression for the music that is already in my head."—Glenn Clairmonte.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

The students of Sunset School will hold a Hallowe'en parade today, at 1:15, following which informal parties will be given in the various classrooms. The Carmel PTA will award four prizes for the best costumes worn by boys and girls in the procession.

Hydrants Inadequate, Says Craig

"The water pressure is not high enough in the fire hydrants in the residential district, particularly in the lower end of town," Donald Craig, Fire Commissioner, told the Pine Cone yesterday. "I have talked to Mr. Goldsworthy of the water company and he says he cannot get the pipe, yet. I intend to put it before the city council at the meeting Wednesday night."

Craig has received a report of the survey made here recently for the Board of Fire Underwriters. The board commends the record of the Carmel Fire Department, is satisfied with the equipment, but recommends more laterals, bigger mains and more hydrants in the residential district.

A lower insurance rate will be set by the board for the business district in view of the new fire engine, but not for the residence district, due to the inadequacy of the hydrant system.

The hydrants were installed and are owned by the California Water and Telephone Company. The city pays the company $2.50 per month rental for each hydrant; or a total of $2,900.10 per year. In return, the company is supposed to furnish water in sufficient quantity and pressure to provide adequate fire protection.

Sporting NOTES

PENINSULA FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

TONIGHT — San Jose Tech at Pacific Grove, 8 p.m.; Monterey at Madera, 8 p.m.

SATURDAY, Nov. 1 — Carmel at King City, 2 p.m.; Carmel Lightweights at King City, 12 noon.

PADRE GRIDDERS INVADE KING CITY TOMORROW

Tomorrow afternoon on the King City turf the hustling Carmel High School football team will receive their first test in league competition. While this will be Carmel's first league game, the Mustangs have already disposed of Gonzales and Pacific Grove—but good. King City shellacked Gonzales, 32 to 0, and manhandled Pacific Grove, 33 to 0. Not content with running roughshod over their league opponents, the Mustangs walloped Watsonville, 19 to 6, and took Santa Barbara, 6 to 0. The Padres have advanced slowly and their offense is just beginning to click. They turned back a favored San Jose Tech eleven by a 44-0 count, and soundly whipped Coast High School, 41 to 6. In both these games superior speed and downfield blocking were the strong points in the red and gray favor.

King City operates from a crunching single-wing attack which features the swift running of right halfback Manzoni, the bruising line smashing of fullback Moxley, and the accurate passing combination of Frazier to Banuelos. Frazier is head and shoulders above any passer in the CCAL, while Banuelos is considered the peer of the ends.

Carmel employs the T formation with man in motion and attempts to free their scat backs by deception and quick opening plays. Paul Warner and Nelson Byers will pilot the Padres from the Quarterback position, and they have some hard running backs to carry out their orders. Murrey Wight, Dick Garguilo, Tom Handley, and Bob Barry present a nifty quartet of swift moving halfbacks, while Lew McCreery and Dan Holmes provide key blocks to spring the speed. Warner and Byers have improved a great deal in the passing department and they have good pass receiveing ends in Dick Weer, Owen Greenan, Mike Monahan, and Bob Rissell. The rugged tackle play of tackles Floyd Adams, Newt Goodrich, Les Bracisco, Dick Sumner, Mat Schmutz, and John Blinks will be counted on to halt the powerful off-tackle thrusts of the Mustangs.

Six fast guards, led by Rod Dewar, assure the Padres of good middle coverage. Bill Hodgson, Dewar's running mate, is the fastest guard in the league, while Basil Allaire, Tom Corley, Elton Clark, and Bill Johnson are rapidly catching the hang of the dirt-eating position.

In the preliminary game, startting at 12 o'clock, the King City reserves will tangle with the Carmel limiteds. The local lightweights have taken the measure of Salinas, Monterey, and Pacific Grove limiteds, and are anxious to have the Mustang hide in their collection. Chuck Dawson has a spirited gang of little sprouts on his club, and they are capable of knocking off some of the good teams in the league. Fast, hard-running backs plus the fine passing of Jim Hare, make the local limiteds a dangerous offensive club. Lack of weight hampers their defensive efforts, but scrap and spirit have aided them in holding the enemy. The King City reserves are comparatively untried this year but they will have a team well grounded in fundamentals.

PADRES SHOW OFFENSIVE IN DEFEATING CAMBRIA

Taking up where they left off against San Jose Tech on the previous week, the hard-hitting Carmel High School football team put on a display of offense which completely baffled the beefy Coast High eleven. For one quarter it was a tight ball game, but in the second frame the Padres came to life and unreeled several long gainers to hit for two touchdowns. Dick Garguilo racked up both scores on sprints of 24 and 62 yards. Both conversions were good and the locals enjoyed a half-time lead of 14 to 0.

Things livened up considerably in the second half and both teams put on offensive shows. Accurate passing by Warner and Byers put the ball in position for scoring thrusts by Murrey Wight, slippery right halfback. Murrey found the Coast size just to his liking and skipped for two tallies in the third quarter and one in the fourth. Paul Warner contributed 6 for the Padre cause when he slid over center off a quarterback sneak. Deft pass receiving by Gorham, Greenan, Weer, and Monahan sparked the Carmel aerial game and kept the Coast secondary honest.

While the Padres were denting the end zone for 4 touchdowns in the second half, the visitors were pretty well held in check by the hard-charging Carmel line. Dewar, Hodgson, Adams, and Goodrich provided a solid wall on the inside and sturdy end play turned the Coast runners before they could circle the flanks. Tom Handley proved a bulwark on defense, both by his tackling and his defense against passes. The lone Coast score came as a result of a short pass followed by a 60 yard jaunt down the sidelines. Several Carmel tacklers had shots at the speedy Cambria halfback, but attempted high tackles failed to hold the speedster.

Coast presented a good big football team which was never outfought and which showed plenty of spark even when the Carmel speed wore them down. A fine drill team and band accompanied the visitors and put on a half-time show.

The Padres emerged from Saturday's fracas unscathed by injuries and should be in top shape for their big test next Saturday against King City. With another week to practice tackling and pass defense the locals should put up a whale of a battle against a highly favored Mustang eleven.

LOCAL CAGERS SINK U.S.S. COLUMBUS, 28 TO 27

In an extremely interesting game witnessed by several hundred sailors and Carmel citizens, the Cruiser Columbus basketball team went down before the sharpshooting of Russ Bohlke and his All-Stars. The game was hotly contested from start to finish and kept the fans in an uproar throughout. The sailors led for most of the contest, and it was not until the waning moments that the Carmel lads got hot and took the play away from the boys in blue. A nifty forward, named Brozeck, proved plenty tough for the Carmel defense and walked off with scoring honors. Brozeck found the net for 15 points and contributed to the rest of the Columbus scores by his superior ball handling and court play. Russ Bohlke led the All-Stars by tanking 9 points and playing a sterling all-around game. Dick Uzzell dunked in 8 points and played a fine game around the backboards.

Playing for the All-Stars were: Milt Thompson, Rich Mulholland, Russ Bohlke, Jim Muscutt, Dick Uzzell, Max Hodges, Howard Lockwood, Del Wermuth, Walt Helm, Don Gibbs, and Mac Ashton.

BASEBALL SUNDAY

The 1947-48 Winter Baseball League will open at the Monterey Ball Park next Sunday, November 2 at 12:00 noon with the first game between Stolte Inc. vs. Salinas; the second game between the two Carmel teams to start at 2:30 with the Carmel American Legion vs. The Carmel Pine Cone.

CARMEL LIGHTWEIGHTS BEAT P. G. RESERVES, 6-0

In a see-saw battle marred by frequent fumbles on both sides, the Carmel lightweight gridders handed the Pacific Grove reserves a 6-0 lacing last Thursday afternoon at Bardarson Field. The Carmel boys had much the better of the offensive going and with better luck in holding onto the ball would have dented the scoring column several times. When the line would open up big truck lanes through the PG line the backs would spring into the open and proceed to drop the ball. Pacific Grove was very obliging and accepted all the presents given them by the Padre Babes.

The halftime was reached with neither team able to rack up a score, but soon after the intermission the Padres took command and rambled for 6. Passes to Ted Lafleur and hard running by Walt Frey were largely instrumental in penetrating the Pacific Grove defense.

"WOODSMAN, SPARE THAT TREE"

When Pop Smith went out to Pebble Beach to visit his friends the Lockes the other day, Locke picked him up at the gate in his Chevy coupe and no sooner had they gotten on the road leading to the house than the steering wheel went on the blink. The car rolled across the highway, headed for a ditch, and beyond the ditch a deep gully . . . Just in the nick of time, a small tree stopped them from crashing down a twenty foot embankment. Pop says thankfully, "Woodsman, spare that tree!"

Miss Birdseye Tells Woman's Club Secrets of Sophisticated Cuisine, The Art Of Cooking With Herbs

If, in addition to its many other charms, the Monterey Peninsula acquires fame for a sophisticated cuisine, much of the credit should be given to Miss Miriam Birdseye. Although a comparative newcomer to the Peninsula as a permanent resident, Miss Birdseye has already aroused much local interest in herb gardens and herb cookery among members of organizations before which she has spoken and among those who saw her herb garden exhibit at the County Fair. Miss Birdseye was for a number of years consultant on nutrition with the Department of Agriculture in Washington and is co-author of a Department bulletin, Savory Herbs: Culture and Use.

Addressing the Carmel Woman's Club Garden Section last Monday afternoon, Miss Birdseye supplemented a talk given last spring on getting acquainted with herbs with a lecture and practical demonstration on the Use of Herbs.

"The use of herbs in cookery is an art and an art is as varied as the artists who use it," said the speaker, adding, "The use of herbs is an art which belongs in Carmel." Miss Birdseye emphasized that there is nothing standardized about recipes including herbs, as a dozen different cookbooks will have a dozen different herb blends for the same dish.

Although Carmel's climate may not be ideal for herb culture due to a possible deficiency of sunshine some years, about twelve herbs can be successfully grown here, said Miss Birdseye. Six of these are classified as "les fines herbes," sometimes used in combinations and sometimes individually, including sweet marjoram, sweet basil, chervil (parsley's delicate sister), thyme, tarragon and rosemary. The other six are called "les robustes herbes" and include parsley, summer savory, the onion family, including chives and leeks, and the mint family, including peppermint and spearmint.

"If I had to do without all herbs except one I would keep the basil, of which there are several kinds, all similarly flavored," said Miss Birdseye. She also expressed the hope that many in her audience would raise lemon-flavored thyme, a delicately scented herb of many uses.

As a good mixture to have on hand, kept in a tightly closed container away from the light, Miss Birdseye recommended three parts marjoram, two parts sweet basil and one part summer savory. To this mixture can be added other herbs to please the individual taste, as one-half part thyme and one-fourth part tarragon. Tarragon is considered a natural for eggs and also extremely good for chicken, said the speaker.

Miss Birdseye also recommended always having chives and parsley on hand and suggested a combination of chervil, chives and basil in salads.

Using a pair of scissors and a knife for mincing fresh herbs and grinding the heel of one hand into the palm of the other to powder dried herbs, Miss Birdseye demonstrated preparation of herb butter, so delicious in one's breakfast egg, for open-faced sandwiches and for many other dishes. Preparation of a dressed chicken for the oven by marinading and inserting herb butter under the skin was also demonstrated.

Miss Birdseye brought a number of pots of herbs from her garden but said that anyone interested in adding to her dishes the variety, interest, accent and the delicious flavor of herbs should not be deterred by the lack of space or sun for raising them, as there are excellent dried herbs available. Unless used up rapidly, the dried herbs should be bought in small quantity, due to rapid loss of flavor after opening, said the speaker.

For the tea following Miss Birdseye's talk, Mrs. F. E. Naftzger, Garden Section Chairman, had made delicious herb butter open sandwiches and crisp cookies flavored with anise and other herbs which appeased appetites whetted by Miss Birdseye's talk and the fragrance of fresh herbs.

Beautiful dahlias in large vases around the room came from the garden of Mrs. Joseph N. LeConte. In charge of the tea were Mrs. J. O. Handley and Mrs. Raymond Smith, and pouring were Mrs. Ella Shaw Fisher and Mrs. Ruth Latour. —Helen Clark Cranston.

Peninsula Church Women To Observe Community Day

Observance of World Community Day, next Friday, November 7, by the Monterey Peninsula Council of Church Women will begin by a message broadcast by Mrs. Arthur Marshall at 10:15 a.m. over KDON. The message prepared by the Reverend V. P. Lockwood of the Christian Church in Pacific Grove will emphasize the Christian community spirit throughout the world and the work of church women in promoting spiritual progress and understanding.

At 12:30 the women meet for a box lunch at the Methodist Church in Pacific Grove with a program to follow carrying the theme of the day. The various cooperating churches will present the clothing outfits they have been assembling this month for school children as part of the national plan to provide clothing for 500,000 children of Europe. Led by Mrs. Ramsey Benson of Carmel, president of the peninsula C.C.W., women of the churches will represent a Syrian Sunday School worker, a woman doctor of China, a Japanese Christian student, a village woman of India, a school teacher in Africa, and a national Christian worker in France, each carrying the flag of her country.

The work of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization will be presented by Mrs. John W. Dickinson, Mrs. D. E. Nixon, Miss Mabel Hoffman, Mrs. D. G. Decherd, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Maxwell Carnson, and Mrs. A. B. Seccombe. Mrs. Guy Jordan will read a message on the day's theme from Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick. The special offering will be used to provide hot lunches for undernourished school children in Europe. Similar meetings for this charitable project are being held throughout the United States.

Hi Chatter

By PEGGY RIKER

Friday afternoon the student body gathered in the cafeteria for its first big meeting of the year along with a rally in preparation for our league game with King City Saturday. The president reported that the student council had elected Paul Warner and Peggy Riker to the Coast Counties Athletic League's Vandalism Board which settles all disputes arising from C.C.A.L. games.

The date for the annual Winter Ball has been set at December 13, a minimum of forty couples must have bought bids by December 1 in order to cover the additional expenses incurred by rising prices this year.

Wednesday, Carmel High School was honored with a visit from Mr. Sidney A. Anderson, Counselor for the South Coast District of the California Alumni Association. Mr. Anderson met with students who are interested in either entering the University of California or receiving a scholarship to any of its branches. Those who attended appreciated the advice and assistance he was able to give.

Tuesday noon the senior girls assembled in the library with Miss Dorothy Wright in order to select three girls who possess the following qualities in a marked degree: dependability, leadership, and patriotism. As a result of the election Joy Westcott, Sue Moore, and Peggy Riker were selected, and from among these the faculty will select one who will receive a pin and certificate and will become eligible for further honors. The final goal is a trip to Washington, D. C., in April with all expenses paid. This contest is a grand chance for some lucky girl to achieve nation-wide acclaim, and the Daughters of the American Revolution is to be thanked for sponsoring such a worthy cause.

DESTROYED BY FIRE

A big fire was started last Sunday morning at 4:55 by some undetermined reason, probably an automatic water heater, in Mrs. A. B. Calder's house at Oak Knoll Way and Carpenter, near 7th Street. The flames were shooting as high as the pine trees by the time the Carmel Volunteers arrived with their fog truck and a second pumper also. Since the property was on the county line, the firemen were able to extinguish it without moving their equipment outside the city limits, and the State Suppression Crew was summoned to take over within the hour.

The house was a total loss and the tenants, Mrs. Marjorie Sully and her two sons, Jim and Jack, lost all their personal possessions.

sales of paintings and sculpture and prints have doubled. The statewide high school art exhibit was a great success and it will be even more amibitious this year.

Lillian Grace Paca has recently published a new edition of her little booklet, Sea-Lions and Seals of California, with her refreshing drawings of "Pinnipedia," including the lovable sea-otter and their inexorable enemy, the killer whale. Copies are being used as souvenirs of the Coast because there is nothing more native to California than these wistful characters from offshore.

Buffet Supper Following Town Hall Lecture

There will be a buffet supper and reception at Highlands Inn on Friday night, November 7, following Randolph Churchill's talk presented under the auspices of the Town Hall. The first speaker to appear on the Town Hall lecture series, Randolph Churchill writes a syndicated newspaper column called Europe Today which is widely read in the United States as well as in Great Britian and printed in countries all over the world.

Churchill saw action during the war with the 4th Queen's Own Hussars, and in 1941 sailed to the Middle East with the Commandos, taking part in the invasion of Sicily, and the landing at Salerno. Then in 1944 he was sent to Marshal Tito's headquarters in Bosnia where he served with the British Military Mission.

Those interested in attending the buffet supper and reception following the lecture should get their reservations early, either phoning Monterey 8683 or Highlands Inn, as the dining room will accommodate only 250 people.

The next lecture to be presented by the Town Hall will be Kurt Schuschnigg, who will speak on November 28th.

New Inn Manager Abandons "Farming Out" Practices

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Yard were entertained at dinner Sunday evening at the Hatton Fields home of Senator and Mrs. Edward H. Tickle, former owners of Highlands Inn. Mr. Yard, who came here from Abilene, Texas, two weeks ago to take over the managership of Highlands Inn, is one of the four owners of the establishment and will work in partnership with Don Berger, replacing Mark Thomas. The other owners are Don Berger, Fremont Berger and Alexander Allen. In addition to Highlands Inn, the four partners own the Ojai Valley Inn at Ojai, California, and the Westerner Inn at El Paso, Texas.

The change of management has brought about an abandonment of the policy of "farming out" the overflow of guests in residences in the Highlands in violation of the zoning ordinance, Mr. Yard says.

Mr. Yard plans to keep Highlands Inn exactly as it is, for he is charmed with the quiet, old-fashioned atmosphere, except that he will re-decorate and refurnish the chalets which he says are badly in need of it, and will move the cocktail bar over to the other side of the lounge. The cocktail bar, built last spring, prevents guests from seeing the view out the great plate-glass windows in its present location. The decorative scheme of the bar will be carried out in a scotch plaid motif instead of the brilliant chartreuse tones and garish reds which many people have felt to be out of keeping with the dignified atmosphere of Highlands Inn. Mrs. Yard, a talented interior decorator, will be in charge of re-decorating the chalets. Except for these slight alterations, the Inn will remain as it has always been, and there will be an English gardener to keep the grounds in shape.

In talking to the engineers of the Highway Department this week, Mr. Yard learned that the road leading up to Highlands will be widened in December, and he will be able to furnish more parking space at that time.

An experienced hotelman who has been in the business for many years, Dudley Yard served as President and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Texas Hotel Association; owns the Hotel Brandon (known as the Home on the Range) in Pecos, Texas; and has a half interest with Don Berger in the Hotel Windsor, at Abilene, Texas. It is interesting to note that Mr. Yard was Mayor, Vice-Mayor and served several times on the City Council in Pecos, Texas, where he was also captain of the Sheriff's posse.

The Paganini String Quartet Concert

BY PHILIP SCHNEEBERGER

In an inspired performance marked by technical and tonal brilliance the Paganini String Quartet made its first appearance in Carmel on October 26 before an enthusiastic, responsive audience that filled the Sunset School Auditorium. Theirs was a balanced program of the 18th, 19th and 20th Centuries, heard with hushed concentration and followed by spontaneous applause that finally brought a joyous encore. The group displayed undoubted maturity of ensemble technique and expression, each performer presenting his own independent part with consummate artistry. Their style exhibited fine, precise phrasing and great vitality, maintaining when called for, delicate nuances and a gentle lyricism that gave expressive contrast to more vigorous passages.

The Opus 64, No. 3 in B Flat Major by Haydn, was an apt choice for their first number. Whether the Paganini group developed the vivacious themes with sensitiveness and piquancy, or their violins imposed a delicate tracery against the serene melodies sustained by viola and cello —as in the second movement—one felt that their interpretation of this master resembled an etching in fine, clean lines. Nor could one fail to be impressed by the utterly joyous quality of the gay folk dance later in the work or the precision and vigor of their melodic line in the finale.

Their Beethoven number—it was No. 3 of the Rasumowsky opus—met with more serious treatment by the quartet. Opening on a tragic note, almost one of self-pity, the presentation seemed a reflection of the conflict in the composer's soul that climaxed in the famous Fifth Symphony. Romance and lyricism appeared in this work

SUNSET SCHOOL NOTES

Mr. Orville Rogers' Sixth Grade.

The seventh grade gave a play on fire prevention. At first the play was a bit funny, then it became serious.

When the curtain opened it showed a boy studying his home work. Then he remembered that he had to write a report on fire prevention. He was thinking very hard about what to write. After a while he fell asleep. He started dreaming that he saw flames dancing around. Pretty soon they stopped. Then they told about fires they had been in. They told about the San Francisco fire, the Chicago fire, and others. Then a human came in and said she could put them out. She told them all the ways she could do it. Then after that the flames got scared and ran out. Then the boy woke up with many ideas for his report.

—Bruce Bixler.

In Mr. Rogers' sixth grade we have two new girls and two new boys.

The girls' names are Valeria Wright and Mary McClain. Valeria is a new girl in Carmel. She lived in Del Mar, California, before coming to Carmel. Mary isn't a new girl in Carmel for she went to Sunset in the fourth grade before she moved to Los Gatos, where she attended the fifth grade.

The new boys in our room are Ned Taylor and Kenneth Barker. This is Ned's first year in Carmel. He came from La Crosse, Wisconsin. Kenneth went to Sunset when he was in the second and third grades. He has been living in Grants Pass, Oregon.

Our class is very glad to have the new children in our room and we hope they like our school and town. —Bonnie Vandervort.

In opening exercises we have been talking about sports. Now that the football season has started we've been talking about the college games.

The two favorite teams of the class are Stanford and California. Last weekend Washington defeated Stanford by a score of 25-0. Stanford seems to have a poor team this year.

On the other hand California seems to have an exceptional team this year. They have won five and lost only one game. Many people thought that California and Michigan would play at the Rose bowl on New Year's Day until USC won from California last Saturday.

—Alice Ferrante.

Have you had trouble lately with raccoons? Have they been knocking down bushes or turning over barbage cans? Well we have—by three large raccoons. The first we saw of them was a month ago. My mother was going down to the garage to get something out of the car. As she passed a large pine tree she saw three pair of eyes looking down at her. At first she was frightened because she did not know they were raccoons. They were eating the remains of a tipped over garbage can.

A week later my father woke up about 1:30 a. m. and heard a loud crash! He went to the window just in time to see a raccoon scramble out of a badly broken bush.

Just recently at night my father saw one run up a pine tree and join two other raccoons. My father called us out to see them.

We now leave edible scraps out at night for them to eat and have not been bothered since.

—Christine Conley.

Our class has a club. This club has a president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and sports manager. The president is Allen Knight; vice-president, Richard Whitesides; secretary, Bonnie Vandervort; treasurer, Don Leidig; and sports manager, Jack Hilgers. We have our club meetings on Friday. The meeting is conducted like a regular meeting. We have the flag salute, minutes, old business, new business, then Kangaroo Court. —Pauline G.

About a month ago my dog almost got teased to death. It all started the night my mother left the top of the garbage can open. Coons have little hands just like you and I. These hands are so little they are like a baby's hands. So the coons climbed upon the garbage can and practically tipped it over. Thank goodness they didn't do it.

It was that night, too, that my mother went out to see what was making my dog Shep bark. When she got out there, she looked up in the trees and saw coons moving from one place to another.

Coons have funny habits. They will tease a dog half to death if they get a chance, as my dog knows by now. —Jack Hilgers.

Daffy Duck is my own duck and his real name is Quacky, but I call him Daffy because he is so silly. For instance when we got him, he was three days old and had a wing that was about an inch wide and his bill was about an inch and a half long. Well, anyway, he would try to put his head under his wing and it would look so funny with one bit of orange on top of his wing and one bit of orange on the bottom of his wing. You see, all he could get under his wing was part of his beak.

He does lots of other things like scaring cats half out of their wits fighting imaginary enemies. With all his silly actions the whole family loves him. —Don Leidig.

Mrs. Anna Kohners' Second grade.

In our class we are studying about fire prevention. The teacher showed us how glass can start a fire. She showed us by using a magnifying glass. She showed us how a fire needs air in order to burn. She lit a candle. Then put a jar over the candle. The fire went out after a few seconds, because it used up the air in the jar.

We learned a lot about how to prevent fires. Most fires start through carelessness. Sometimes people keep oily rags in a closet. Other people let small children play with matches. Everybody should be very careful with fire.

—Judy Sargant.

Last week our class went to the fire house. We rode there on the fire truck. We went through some of the fire trucks. One of them had a little black switch. It had the word "water" on it. The siren went all the time we were going. The teacher made it go. On the way back we went by the beach. We went right near my house, too. My mother said she thought she heard us. We had a lot of fun.

—Laurel Martin.

We went to the fire house. The firemen showed us the ax that broke through steel doors. We came back to the school room and talked about the fire house and how to prevent fires.

—Billy Dorman.

We had some movies at our school. One was about Woody Woodpecker and one was about traffic patrol. We learned how not to go across the street between parked cars. I liked the woodpecker one best because it was so funny. A cop was looking for a speeder and lots of funny things happened. —Tom Wilson.

My birthday was October 14. Now I am seven years old. I got a new dress, new party shoes, and yellow sox to go with the dress. I had my party Saturday. I wore my new shoes and my new dress and my new sox. Eight people came to my party. I had ice cream and a big birthday cake.

—Ellen Cook.

JUNIOR RED CROSS NEWS

Our Junior Red Cross at Sunset School is sending Christmas boxes to the people in war torn countries. Our drive ended the 24th of October. We gave out the boxes to the different grades. In these boxes went pencils, pads of paper, a box of crayons, eraser, a cake of soap, toothbrush and powder, wash cloth, needles, thread, thimble, comb, buttons, a handkerchief, and a small toy.

Last year we sent over one hundred boxes from our school. We hope to do as well this year.

—Pat Finley.

in the second part, the gentle nostalgic melodies of a Russian character in this movement rising from the four instruments in sheer loveliness. It was the last part of this number with its rhythmic, dance-like theme, its ingenious fugal development and counterpoint which made greatest demands on the players. These they met flawlessly, developing the score with the tremendous vigor and vitality that Beethoven deserves.

The Debussy Quartette in G Minor was the piece de resistance of the evening in its technical difficulties, interpretive requirements, and its wide musical comprehension. These were met in such a fashion as to leave no question of the virtuosity of the four performers, who played as if motivated by one mind. Description of individual movements would carry little import save to emphasize the vigor with which the work opened, or the masterly solos by violist and cellist, or the unsurpassed delicacy which marked frequent passages and the last measures of this opus. What made the performance of this number memorable was the perfect portrayal of impressions and moods that Debussy has written into his extraordinary scores. To each listener the subtly blended orchestral tints evoked a different image. There were moments of mystic beauty as of fog rolling over headlands or drifting over tall pines. There was the poetic charm of a muted sunset, or the dreamy atmospheric quality in tones that suggested wind sighing through the cypresses. Altogether it was as near to perfection as one could desire. The thunderous applause following the Debussy finally brought the charming Allegro from Haydn's Op. 33, No. 2, played with vivacity and pointing up the gay humor which this composer brought into music.

It is difficult to believe that this group has been playing as an ensemble for only a year a half. Its personnel — Henri Temianka, and Gustave Rosseels, violinists; Robert Courte, violist, and Robert Maas, cellist—have attained in this brief period an amazing unity of performance, interpretation, and tonal blend that would ordinarily be considered impossible. The explanation is simple: each member has had over a decade of experience in chamber music, symphony orchestra, or as solo artist; and each is a veritable master of his instrument and has superb musicianship as well. But there is more than that. For there is a close community of spirit and understanding among these four and a capable, sympathetic leadership that aims at perfection and evokes the utmost these artists can give.

It is pertinent to note that there is a growing appreciation of chamber music. This is evidenced by the wide acclaim accorded this Quartet on its first tour and the recording of their work in some six albums currently being released. Furthermore, a due recognition of their artistry and their potential contribution to the musical world has led to the endowment of this Quartet by one who appreciates their great abilities and the role that chamber music plays in musical culture. It is fair to say that in the concert given last Sunday at Sunset Auditorium we have heard one of the great string quartets of our period.

Here's Post-war Power for Pre-war Buicks

A brand-new 1947 Fireball engine puts today's Sparkling Zip into your 1937-1942 Buick

IF you've been itching to get the thrill of a power-packed 1947 Buick engine under your treadle toe, here's the quick and happy solution.

It's a factory-fresh Fireball engine right off the 1947 production line. It's exactly the same mighty package of power that goes into the flashing new Buicks. You can get it now to repower any Buick built in the last ten years.

How can we do it—when new cars are so hard to get? Here's the answer:

While shortages of bodies and other parts slow up completed cars, Buick engine production has forged ahead. So engines are available now—ready to go into your car and step it up with today's up-to-the-minute power performance.

And it's as simple as this: We take out the old engine—put this new one in its place—and your car's young again, rarin' to go, with a new lease on life and headed for thousands and thousands of miles of smooth, spirited service.

It doesn't take long—far less time than a thorough overhaul—and often at less cost. Convenient payments can be arranged, if you like.

It's the next best thing to getting a new Buick—and a good investment because it makes your car worth so much more.

Certainly well worth while looking into, isn't it? Come in and let's talk it over.

Lyman Gaylord Engaged

Vasia Anikeef was surprised and delighted to learn last week that his son, Lyman Gaylord, will be married shortly to Miss Karen Kirsten of Washington, D. C. The young couple will motor out to California around the 1st of November for a visit with Vasia in the Cachagua before going to San Francisco, where Lyman plans to go to the California School of Fine Arts.

Lyman grew up in Carmel, where he attended Sunset School, and was a student at the University of California when he was drafted into the Army. He was stationed in Germany for a year doing photographic work for public relations and on his return to the States got a job with an organization interested in world government. His mother, the former Sibyl Anikeef of Carmel, who now lives in Chicago, is also a photographer.

Back From Trip

Mrs. L. L. Dewar and Mrs. P. A. McCreery returned last Friday from an exciting tour of the United States and report that they found Washington, D. C. with its wide, clean streets, excellent service and gracious southern charm, the high spot of their entire journey. They stayed at the Mayflower and went to see Mount Vernon, Arlington, the Pentagon and climbed the Capital Dome. People stationed in Washington, D. C. during the war will be interested to learn that the city is less crowded than it was and that the feverish tempo of wartime activity is a thing of the past.

The travellers also visited Chicago, West Virginia, New Orleans and New York, staying with Mrs. McCreery's relatives in Chicago and with Mr. McCreery's brother and sister-in-law in Beckley, West Virginia. West Virginia, they remarked, was very beautiful as the autumn leaves were just turning. In New York, they saw everything there was to see including Radio City, the Empire State building, Wall Street, the Bowery and Broadway at night with its brilliant lights. In New Orleans, they went to the famous French restaurant, Antoines, but had to stand in line owing to the fact that they had been erroneously informed that reservations were unnecessary.

Mrs. Dewar and Mrs. McCreery left Carmel on September 27, and travelled east by train.

Moose Hunters Return

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Post, Jr., and their daughter, Mary Post, returned to the Big Sur last week after a month in Canada where they went moose hunting, and they celebrated the returns of the big hunt with a moose-steak barbecue down at Rancho Sierra Mar last Sunday, attended by a huge crowd of friends and neighbors.

The moose in question was shot by Bill Post on the first day of the hunt in the wilds of British Columbia, outside of Quesnel. In order to get into the moose-country, the Posts had to drive sixty miles over a rough "corduroy road" and the trip took them eight hours. The moose weighed in at 1500 pounds, and they packed it in ice and brought it back to the Big Sur, to share with their many friends.

The Posts were accompanied on the great moose hunting expedition by John Cochran and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Le Neve and their children.

Among those who attended the enormous barbecue were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Morris of Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. Harrydick Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Trotter and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Trotter of Partington Ridge; Mr. Ray Pool, Mrs. Walter Fenton, and Mrs. George Fontes of Salinas; Dr. and Mrs. Chapman and Dr. and Mrs. Thompson of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Grover Meyrose, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Meyrose and Mr. and Mrs. William Fassett of Coastlands; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Jaeger and Mrs. Frank Post of Loma Vista Inn; Dr. and Mrs. William McCabe, Mr. Jim Summerville, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hummel, Carol and Laurel McQueen, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lively, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Derrick Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oltman, Mr. John Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Al Whittington, Mr. Lester Derrick, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Currence, and Mrs. John Currence, Mr. and Mrs. Pinkie Ransom, Mr. Red Winkie, and Mr. Bob McGrath, of Big Sur; Mr. Roy Cushing of Sea Cliff State Park; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Velzey, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Rogers of Monterey; Mrs. Frank Muller, Harold and Norma Muller and Mr. and Mrs. Sal Stovmen of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Bud Wilms of Gilroy; Mr. and Mrs. Jim James of the Pinnacles; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Grimshaw of Carmel; Mr. Carl Hildebrant of the Carmel Valley; and Mr. Nelson Gerhart of Missouri.

Also present was Joseph W. Post, Senior, father of the lucky moose-hunter.

Hagerman-Dennis Wedding

The marriage of Miss Babette Hagerman and Mr. Robert Dennis was solemnized in a double-ring ceremony at the Church of the Wayfarer on Saturday at 3:00 p. m., October 25. Rev. K. Fillmore Gray officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Homer Hagerman of Salinas, wore a traditional ivory satin gown, with a high neck and seed pearl appliqued embroidery, and a finger-tip veil held in place by a Mary Queen of Scots white satin headpiece.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at Normandy Inn attended by more than a hundred guests. The wedding party received in front of the big fireplace banked with white chrysanthemums and greens, and at the long table in the center of the dining room, the bride cut her three tiered wedding cake and champagne punch was served. The sparkling white damask cloth, the silver urn filled with white flowers and the tall candles made a charming background for the newly married pair.

Following a honeymoon in northern California, the Dennises will make their home in Salinas. The new Mrs. Dennis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hagerman and Mr. Dennis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Dennis, both of Salinas.

Landlubbers at Sea

Down at the government pier Monday evening, a tiny launch picked up the hundreds of guests going aboard the U.S.S. Columbus for a buffet supper in celebration of Navy Day. As it streamed out across the choppy waters of Monterey Bay cutting a wake of churning foam and fine white spray, the landlubbers looked back in amazement at the fantastic loveliness of the fishing fleet with the prickling bright lights of Monterey and the low, dark line of hill behind. On the horizon, there was a long amber-orange bar of sunset between the gray water and the enormous gray sky, and a great full moon hung over Mount Toro.

As most of the women were dressed in their finest and wearing high spike heels, they had a rough time climbing up the ladder, but with the aid of various gallant staff officers managed to reach the main deck where Captain Milton E. Miles, skipper of the cruiser, waited to welcome them aboard.

Conducted down to the Wardroom where they were served tomato juice, guests attempted to hide their bewilderment at the intricate world of companionways, ladders and bulkheads, and did their best to use the correct nautical terms such as "ship" instead of "boat," and "ladders" instead of "stairs." Rear Admiral Roscoe F. Good, commander of Cruiser Division One, chatted with guests in the Admiral's Wardroom until the buffet supper was served.

More than 300 guests turned up, and although the Navy had expected only half that number, there was plenty of chow for all. Very good chow it was, too, served cafeteria style, and consisting of such items as cold turkey and ham, potato salad, tuna-fish mix, peas, buns, coffee, ice cream and pie. As they passed through the galley, people were puzzled at the presence of what seemed to be an old, weather-beaten piece of shipboarding suspended in mid-air. Many romantic theories were put forward as an explanation until one of the staff officers ended the mystery by explaining that this was intended for use in case the ship was hit by a torpedo, for shoring up a hole in the bulkhead.

The bay was a little rough, the ship rolled quite heavily at times, and the landlubbers kept lurching about until they discovered that in order to maintain their balance it was necessary to assume the spread-legged posture of able seamen. During supper, the long tables skidded slightly once or twice, making everyone wonder what it would be like aboard the Columbus in a heavy storm.

After supper, the guests reluctantly departed from the vessel, many of them wishing that they could stowaway and take a ride down to Long Beach the next morning. Most of the women were happy to get ashore again, however, as they said that the roll of the ship made them quite dizzy and the launch scared them when it churned through the breakers.

Among those present were various dignitaries from Carmel, Monterey, and Pacific Grove, including Mayors Fred Godwin, Hugh F. Dormody, and W. R. La Porte, as well as members of the city councils. There was a liberal sprinkling of Army aboard, too, and a large turn-out of the local Naval Reserve.

New Resident

A newcomer to Carmel is John D. Brockdorff who is opening a real estate office on Dolores street shortly where he will also represent the Lincoln National Life Insurance Company in this community. Formerly a resident of Copenhagen, Denmark, Mr. Brockdorff came to this country during the war and saw action with the famous 7th Division in the Pacific. Following his release from the service, he visited relatives in Washington, D. C. and got a job with the Lincoln National Life Insurance Company.

He will make his home on Lorca Lane.

Jeffers Back

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson Jeffers got back Tuesday from New York where they had flown two weeks ago to attend the Broadway opening of Mr. Jeffers' play, starring Judith Anderson and John Gielgud. Although Mr. Jeffers didn't want to go (it embarrasses him to be present at his own plays), he was so deeply moved by Judith Anderson's magnificent performance that he forgot to take a bow when the call for "author" went out, and had to be heaved up on his feet by Mrs. Jeffers to stand in the spotlight while the audience stamped and cheered.

Every notable in New York was present at the opening, including Toscanini and Fritz Kreisler; and Medea, which has broken all theatrical precedent by getting one rave reveiew after another, received the biggest ovation accorded any place on Broadway in many years. Carlton Parker, the noted music critic, told Mrs. Jeffers that he had never seen New York behave like that before. It took Judith Anderson two hours to get her make-up off because of the innumerable curtain calls and the enormous stream of people who rushed backstage to congratulate her in her dressing-room.

While in New York, the Jeffers' were entertained at Hampshire House where they saw many old friends such as Van Wyck Brooks, Carlton Parker and Marjorie Chadburn, and attended numerous cocktail parties given in their honor. They stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ogden Stewart in the absence of the Stewarts who are wintering in London. (Mrs. Stewart is the former Ella Winter of Carmel). Mrs. Jeffers says the east was brilliant with glory of autumn coloring and everywhere they went the leaves were turning red and gold in a burst of color such as they had not seen in years. Before leaving New York, they went down to Long Island to stay overnight with Marjorie Chadburn.

On their way home, they stopped at Zanesville, Ohio, to see their two small grand-daughters, Candida and Judith Jeffers, who may come out to visit at Tor House next summer. They also took a brief trip up to Michigan to see Mrs. Jeffers' sisters before flying home.

Mrs. Jeffers says she likes air-travel and would never travel any other way because of the greater speed and convenience, but didn't enjoy the "hedge-hopping" when circling down over air-fields. It took only nine hours to reach New York from California, and it seemed incredible to arrive at La Guardia Airport in the early morning sunlight.

The Jeffers are glad to be back at Tor House, but it was an exciting and successful trip—their first to the east since Mr. Jeffers' lecture tour in 1940.

With Nancy Lofton

Contrary to rumor, the fact that PUTNAM AND RAGGETT are offering their display cases and shelves for sale does not mean they are going out of business. On the contrary, they are contemplating a redecorating project which will take around three days in the middle of November and bring new shelves and cases into the shop. The new equipment is based on the module plan, small, interchangeable and mobile units. There will be no chrome and lucite decor but simple rearrangements to make shopping in PUTNAM AND RAGGETT more convenient. The old shelves and cases are for sale, however, so if you're interested, see or call Mr. Putnam or Mr. Raggett.

There are few things as becoming to any and all figures as the long square neat box jackets you'll find in the new suits in MAXINE'S on Dolores. These suits are beautifully cut of a fine men's wear worsted in gray checks and brown checks, very small and tidy. The jackets hang most gracefully and may be buttoned to the chin, and the skirts are long and slim and the price for the suit is $49.95. You can not avoid feeling smooth, well groomed and infinitely presentable in such a suit.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Kastros are the new owners and managers of the GROCERY DEPARTMENT of the CARMEL DRIVE-IN MARKET on Dolores and Eighth. Mr. Kastros has had some ten to fifteen years experience in the grocery business and he promises quality merchandise at a low price, excellent and courteous service, free delivery service any time during the day, ample parking and a complete line of groceries including dairy and bakery goods to all his customers. Call 23, order your groceries and Mr. Kastros will send them to your door.

Here is the VILLAGE BOOKSHOP on Ocean Avenue and in it you will find Admiral Halsey's Story, just published and the first report about the naval war in the Pacific to reach the public from a high-ranking naval officer. The book is the story of the American navy during the last fifty years, told through the life of Admiral Halsey. There are exciting accounts of the Pearl Harbor attack, the Doolittle raid and the battle of Leyte Gulf among its hundreds of fascinating pages. Appropriate to the week in which Navy Day comes is the Fireside Book of Folk Songs in which you'll find sailors' chanteys among the hundreds of songs from all people, brightly illustrated and decorated and presented with simple piano and vocal score.

Under the instruction of RUTH ALLERHAND you may obtain that bodily grace and poise which is the foundation of well being for any woman. Whether you would be rid of a stodgy feeling in your bones, whether you would learn ballroom or study creative dancing, or whether you simply need to learn bodily control, MISS ALLERHAND is an excellent person to assist you. Her method is based on sound knowledge of the functions of the body, and her many years of teaching have enabled her to be an understanding friend to her pupils. During the afternoon and evening call her in her studio at Monterey 5823. For information about either group or private lessons you may also call Carmel 2023-W.

Free-form designs suggestive of flight or fire are used in the handmade andirons of brushed chrome in FRISBIE'S FURNITURE STORE on south Dolores. These andirons will be at home in fireplaces in modern houses or adobe houses where the yellow of polished brass is not desirable—and else where, too, for that matter. These andirons can be ordered in your own design, if you wish. FRISBEE'S has firescreens—one fine gold curtain screen, for example—and brass andirons and grates in either 24 or 30 inch width, without which no fireplace should be.

The finest, richest, brightest cotton plaid in town will be found in a two piece dress with wide skirt and neat pique collared jacket in MARIANNA'S DRESS SHOP on Alvarado Street in Monterey. In the same group of dresses at a pleasant price you can find woolen jerseys in classic styles and colors, and wool mixtures in small bright plaids in two piece dresses. There's a nice suit in the group with a long box jacket, too. Many of the dresses are in small sizes though you'll find things suitable for more ample proportions.

The engine is heavy and streamlined and red and it has a lever which causes the stack to stream forth sparks, and with it come twelve sections of track, two Pullman cars, a club car and a baggage car, and it costs only $4.95. This wonderful train winds up, but the spring is powerful and durable enough to withstand much winding and many miles. You'll find it at RICKETS AND FREEMAN SPORTS SHOP on San Carlos between Fifth and Sixth. The shop has electric trains from $15.95 to 41.95, for which price you may buy a deluxe model electric train that is the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

Lions Club Party

The Carmel Lion's Club had a gay Hallowe'en party for the sons and daughters of local Lions last Tuesday night (following their regular dinner), complete with refreshments, apple bobbing contests, a magician and a drawing for prizes. Thirty-eight young people turned up in all, and the hall was decorated with enormous pumpkins, cornstalks, bales of hay and brilliantly colored paper. Although it was not a costume party, some of the youngsters turned up wearing costumes and masks.

Diane Thorne won the first prize in the drawing, a small portable radio, and John Fortier drew the second prize which turned out to be an album of phonograph records.

The main entertainment of the evening was furnished by the magician, Kenneth Stewart, who graduated last year from Monterey High School.

Jack Whitesides was chairman of the entertainment committee handling the party, and his able assistants were: Al Fry, Waldo Hicks, Michael Balazs, Ed Graalfs, Bob Martin, and Lloyd Miller.

A notable event of the evening was when five-year-old Bruce Kramer, son of Lew Kramer, joined the Lions Club Orchestra with his saxophone.

Fresno Convention

Several delegates from the Monterey County Nurse's Association (District 26) attended the meeting of the California State Nurse's Association held in Fresno this week, October 23rd through the 26th. Delegates were Gladys Moffatt, president of the 26th district, Beatrice Torres, and Louise Chatfield, secretary of the local district, who is employed at the Peninsula Community Hospital.

Main topic discussed at the convention was the vital question of improving working conditions so as to attract more women into the profession and relieve the present nursing shortage.

Poindexter-Mackie Wedding

At the home of Mrs. Arthur M. Schroth at Cabrillo and Serra in the Carmel Woods, last Saturday afternoon, Miss Agnes Poindexter and Neil Mackie were united in holy matrimony by Rev. K. Fillmore Gray, pastor of the Church of the Wayfarer.

The bride wore a formal gown of ivory brocade silk with a finger tip veil and carried a great bouquet of white carnations and bouvardia. She was given away by her father, Walter Poindexter, who came down from Oakland with Mrs. Poindexter for the ceremony.

The new Mrs. Mackie grew up in the Hawaiian Islands and has been employed as a laboratory technician at the Presidio of Monterey for the past two years. It was at the Presidio that she met her husband, for Mr. Mackie also a laboratory technician, was stationed there for several months prior to his departure for Korea this spring. He was released from the Army several months ago and will work for his father who owns a logging mill in Aberdeen, Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Blanton, the bride's aunt and uncle, flew to California by clipper from Hawaii to attend the ceremony, and other Island relatives sent an enormous lei of white orchids to decorate the wedding cake. About 35 guests attended the reception.

After a brief honeymoon at Highlands Inn, the young couple flew to Aberdeen, Washington, where they will make their home.

All the rough and ready, gold-crazy exuberance of the old West is captured in these stories. The days when men, good and bad, were motivated only by the lust for nuggets and gold dust have been sympathetically yet, humorously chronicled by the author. 3.00

Square Biscuits, Yet!

I see by a neighboring paper, that the round biscuit is on the way out. Yes, sir, home-management specialists have found that the square biscuit lends itself to assembly-line production and easy storage better than those customary ovals.

Well, we're all for progress, but that's one new idea we just don't cotton to. A round biscuit, spread nicely amidships with snappy country cheese, looks like a biscuit! And accompanied by a mellow glass of beer, it's a combination that you can't improve on!

So at the risk of being called old-fashioned, I'm voting for round biscuits, that fit a hungry man's mouth like no square imitation ever will . . . and for American beer served in the good old-fashioned way, in tall, cool mugs or ordinary glasses, with frosty sides and bubbles winking at the brim!

Think I'll step out to the kitchen for a snack right now!

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

The subject of the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, November 2, is "Everlasting Punishment," with the Golden Text taken from Proverbs: "He that covereth his sins shall not prosper: but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy" (28:13).

The following citations are included in the sermon:

Isaiah: "Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near: Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon" (55:6, 7).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man's enslavement to the most relentless masters—passion, selfishness, envy, hatred, and revenge — is conquered only by a mighty struggle. . . Here Christian Science is the sovereign panacea, giving strength to the weakness of mortal mind,—strength from the immortal and omnipotent Mind,—and lifting humanity above itself into purer desires, even into spiritual power and good-will to man" (p. 407).

St. John's Chapel
Del Monte
The Rev. Theodore Bell
Chaplain

St. John's Chapel is a beautiful little church nestling in a grove of giant oak trees. Men and women from many lands have found it to be a plaace apart. It may be that you also will find its atmosphere congenial to the spiritual life. The Chapel is open all day long. Those who seek in its stillness to grow more conscious of God's presence do not go unrewarded. Sunday services at eight and eleven a.m. The Chapel is close to Hotel Del Monte.

November 19 Set For All Saints' Auxiliary Bazaar

The Woman's Auxiliary of All Saints' Episcopal Church will hold their annual Bazaar in the Parish House November 19, from 10 a. m.

For many years this Bazaar has been known to all the Peninsula as a splendid place to find Christmas gifts, useful and beautiful, and for all ages. The Auxiliary specializes in aprons: dainty confections to wear when serving at a party, and work aprons so pretty that even housework becomes almost a party. There will also be a Snack Bar, where luncheon can be had, to eat on the premises or to take home, also many other good things for the pantry and table.

The Auxiliary depends on this Bazaar for the greater part of the funds with which they meet their many commitments and pledges to charities in their parish, the diocese and their world. This year there are greater demands than usual for the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief, and for the building of a new Church and Parish House.

Weston Here Briefly

Edward Weston is spending a few days at the Highlands while director-producer Willard Van Dyke and his assistants are getting some shots of the coast to be included in the documentary film on photography in which Weston plays the leading role.

The picture, which will be part of the State Department's Voice of America program and translated into 25 languages when it is finished, has been under way since the early part of September, when Weston and the production crew went down to Oceano for shots of the dunes. Early this week they returned from the Sierra Nevada, where they got a lot of work done at Lake Tanaya and around Tuolomne Meadows, and leave soon for Oceano and more dune shots, later proceeding to Death Valley, where they will remain on location for some time.

He was under the impression that he was going to a meeting of the 20-40 Club to discuss plans for a New Year's party, but it turned out that the assembled guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Seipel on Trevis Way were waiting to sing Happy Birthday.

Mrs. Seipel served a three-tiered birthday cake decorated in the bright colors of Hallowe'en with one dark layer and two gold, and had hot spiced grapejuice.

Among those present in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Blanks were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Fehring, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Williams, Mrs. Mary Elliott, Mrs. James Pruitt and Jack Laughlin. The entire house was decorated brilliantly for Hallowe'en with pumpkins, corn-shocks, etc., left over from the children's party.
